WASHINGTON, April 14.—Brigadier General Harts, former commandant of American troops in the Paris district, told a House investigating committee today that General Pershing gave him full responsibility to cope with conditions arising from misdemeanors of American officers and enlisted men.

General Harts said he had not sought command of Paris, but it was given him by General Pershing, who declared that "officers and men in Paris were behaving in such a way as to give the American army a bad name."

"I think I improved conditions and did it well," the witness added.

Responding to a query concerning the three-year sentence given Lieutenant "Hard Boiled" Smith for brutalities toward prisoners, General Harts said Smith must have exceeded his authority.

Cable to Carry Power a War Inventor Exhibited at the

Marine Display

A train of barges electrically propelled by power derived from a "power boat" to which they are connected by a flexible cable is one of the war inventions described for the first time last night at the Marine Show, by William T. Donnelly, a consulting engineer. The invention has already been thoroughly tested on two yachts owned by Mr. Donnelly—the Dawn and the New Era. "Briefly, it consists of placing an electric generating power plant on one vessel, generating electricity there in sufficient quantity not only to drive the vessel itself," said Mr. Donnelly, "but several other cargo vessels, and transmitting the power between the generating station which we will call the 'power boat,' and the cargo carriers by means of flexible, waterproof cables."

Another feature of the third day of the show was the lecture by T. W. Allison, head of a company bearing his name, who gave an illustrated address on a new stockless anchor invented by himself.

Dempsey Acquitted Of Manslaughter; Jury Out 3 Hours

erdict Followed Explana Head Was Not Responsible for Acts of Others

John J. Dempsey, former vice-president of the B. R. T., who has been on trial for the second time in the Supreme Court at Mineola on charges or mansiaughter growing out of the Malbone Street tunnel wreck, was acquitted yesterday. The jury was outmore than three hours. At Mr. Dempsey's first trial the jury disagreed.

In his charge to the jury Justice Townsend Scudder directed it should consider only whether Dempsey by active or indirect mismanagement of the B. R. T. train service was responsible for the wreck. The point at issue in the earlier trial was whether the defendant should be held responsible for the installation of safety devices.

The jurors left the courtroom at 1:16 p. m. At 4 o'clock they returned to ask Justice Scudder whether Dempsey could be held responsible for an error in judgment on the part of Thomas F. Blewitt, superintendent of the southern division of the B. R. T., or any other of his subordinates. The justice replied that he could not be so held.

The verdict was brought in at 4:37 p. m. Immediately thereafter Stephen C. Baldwin, counsel for Dempsey, asked for dismissal of the indictment charging manslaughter as a result of the death of John Erskine Porter. It was for "The Internal Evenue Profession of the English Rev. T. F. Gailor Deal Capital Has Failed in In Duty to Aliens
